

The Edward Andrews Homes Story

Paul Edward Corley and Todd Andrew Hager had a different perspective. To them, every client was unique, with valuable ideas and needs. To exceed each client's aspirations, they wanted the customer to be at the center of the process. And, they wanted their clients to know that customized didn't mean complicated. So, leveraging decades of experience in the homebuilding and land development industries, they took a road less traveled by, and formed Edward Andrews Homes in 2007, with this mission to create a better homebuilding experience. Today, that mission is fulfilled through the hundreds of happy homeowners who have celebrated their style through innovative, quality homes designed and built for the way each homeowner wants to live.

Edward Andrews Homes strategically selects neighborhoods that allow customers to build in prime locations. By utilizing years of local market experience and by keeping the client first and foremost, Edward Andrews offers homebuyers living conveniences that are well-suited for their family's needs, including superior schools, state-of-the-art community amenities, and thriving neighborhoods.

As Edward Andrews Homes has grown over the years, something beautiful also happened. The associates who joined Edward Andrews had this same mission in their DNA. As a result, the entire team partners with its homebuyers, encouraging them to discover features and details that match their tastes and distinct lifestyle choices. These options, coupled with customizable floorplans that meet the needs and desires of today's Atlanta buyers, allow families to create a special place, on time and within their budget, that makes an Edward Andrews house their home.
